(v) Reported mismatch between the actual subscriber and chargeable subscriber (inference drawn from the prevailing practices).

(vi) Arrangement of revenue sharing with a reference to advertisement, carriage and revenue generated from the subscribers.

Further, the market survey commissioned in 2004 by the Authority reveals that generally subscribers do not watch more than 15-20 channels including Free to Air channels. Thus, if a subscriber opts for 10 pay channels then together with 30 free to air channels totaling 40 channels, his cable bill will be Rs.127/-, excluding taxes and set top box instalments (Rs. 77/- for Basic service tier comprising of 30 free to air channels and Rs. 50/- for 10 pay channels). Cable bill of Rs. 127/- (excluding taxes and set top box instalment) as the price for 40 channels, can not be said to be exorbitant.

(e) TRAI has intimated that no such study has been undertaken.
